Not regularly but often...whenever people ask me how I'm ! I would say I'm not good, not fine and would express what i really feel...but it's not a good exposure to express with people... whatever happens, whatever might happening we should say specially I like to say “I’m fine, I’m good, I’m pretty good” the teams like this...not even “I’m okay” except the closed one... it’s really not a good way to express our worries to people...All they want to hear is we are going and doing good... and to give some positive gesture...not a negative vocals... 😊
